

PENNA., N. JERSEY MAKE AGREEMENT TO BUILD BRIDGE

Duff Approves Agreement Enlarging Joint Commission's Powers

NO DEFINITE SITE

Agreement Calls for Erection Any Point North of Burlington-Mercer Line

By International News Service
HARRISBURG, July 9.—Pennsylvania today made an agreement with New Jersey to construct a toll bridge across the Delaware River in the Bristol-Trenton area.

The compact was concluded with Gov. James H. Duff's approval of a supplemental agreement enlarging powers of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission which will create the framework for financing the project.

The Governor was authorized to assure the Commonwealth's participation under legislation signed June 13, sponsored by Sen. Edward B. Watson (R. D. Bucks).

Gov. A. E. Driscoll signed the compact July 3 on behalf of New Jersey. The agreement states that construction may be undertaken between the two states north of the boundary between Mercer and Burlington counties in New Jersey.

Legislation authorizing construction of a free bridge at Yardley, Bucks County, was repealed. It is explained that no particular site has been decided upon for the structure, the legislation merely providing for the building of the bridge at any location north of the Burlington-Mercer County line up to the New York state line. Apparently the entire legislation is all preliminary.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The House passed and sent to the Senate yesterday the previously vetoed Republican income tax reduction bill, with the effective date changed to Jan. 1. The vote, 392 to 112, was 26 more than needed to override a new veto and came after rejection of a Democratic proposal to write into the measure a greater share of relief for low-income taxpayers.

Widespread reforms in Army court martial procedure designed to reduce the power of combat commander in disciplinary trials were recommended by a House subcommittee.

The new "willing-and-able-to-work" contract was signed by John L. Lewis and operators representing 75% of the soft-coal tonnage. Southern producers representing the rest of the industry, will decide what to do today. The contract avoids union liability for wildcat strikes and other responsibilities covered by the Taft-Hartley labor law.

American Communists started the third party movement to punish "Truman for bucking them diplomatically." Adolf A. Berle, Jr., New York State Liberal party chairman, said after he had conferred with the President.

CENTRAL BUCKS FORMS JOINT SCHOOL BOARD

Joint District Will Get $25,- 000 Per Year More Than If Separate

COPE CHOSEN PRES'T

Harman Y. Cope, of Buckingham, was unanimously elected president of the Central Bucks County Joint Public School Board to succeed Frank Trembley, Jr., who becomes first vice president. The first annual meeting of the Central Bucks County Joint Board was held at the County Education Building in Doylestown. George Richardson, Chalfont, was selected as second vice president and Howard Miller, Dublin, was elected treasurer.

After hearing a discussion on the outcome of the legislation just enacted, the board decided to proceed with the selection of an architect. The new legislation appeared to be far more advantageous for the operation of a joint board than previous laws. It was estimated that financially Central Bucks would receive in excess of $25,000 per year more for the operation of a joint board than if the districts maintained their present organizations.

NULLIFICATION

A great deal of American history is interwoven with the subject of nullification.

The word customarily covers only one detail of many arguments. The "Doctrine of Nullification" was the line of reasoning used by Southern leaders in the pre-Civil War days—men like John C. Calhoun—under which they claimed the right of the Southern States to impede or prevent the operation of Federal laws as passed by Congress.

The reasoning was simple enough. Under the Constitution, the Federal government was created out of powers granted to it by the several "sovereign" states. If the States felt that the powers being used by Congress were in excess of those the States had delegated, then under the principle of State-sovereignty, they felt they had the right to "veto" the laws they disapproved.

Whether this reasoning was sound or not is a matter of opinion. The Civil War settled the facts forever. If the Southern leaders thought they were technically right, they were a little like the motorist in the old couplet:

"He was right—dead right—as he drove along:
But he's just as dead as if dead wrong!"

Whatever may have been the real intention of the writers of the Constitution—and the truth is that they "ducked" the issue, hoping it would never be forced to a showdown—there is no doubt that a victory for the principle of nullification would have meant the breaking apart of the United States and the collapse of central government.

Nullification in other forms—meaning the overruling by some other agency of laws passed by the legislative branch of government—has shown up many times.

For example, as everyone knows, the first form of government set up after the Revolutionary War was a failure. This was the central government created by the Articles of Confederation. The reason it failed was that it was "nullified" by the States. They refused to be bound by its provisions and laws. They got into a wild series of trade wars with each other. Whenever the Federal authorities tried to interfere, the states "starved them out" by refusing to pay Federal taxes.

This was very literal nullification, and it nearly wrecked the young nation.

WILL CARRY TRINKETS FOR SCOUTS OF WORLD

Chas. Holderried, Croydon, Preparing for Jamboree Sailing Date

EMBARKS ON JULY 24

CROYDON, July 9.—Charles Holderried, the member of Troop 69, Croydon, who has been selected as the Boy Scout from the Bristol borough-Bristol township area to attend the Scout Jamboree in Paris in August, is busy these days arranging for details of the journey.

Charles is not only gathering together necessary papers pertinent to his trip abroad, but also is accumulating the trinkets which he will take to Paris with him to exchange with Scouts from all over the world. His main trinkets will be 100 key chains, to each of which is attached a plexiglas square (two inches in diameter). On the squares will appear in gold lettering the wording: "Boy Scouts of America, Troop 69, Croydon, Pa."

Other members of Troop 69 have each been requested by their leaders to give Charles a trinket to add to the lot, and thus a variety will be provided for him to trade with other Scouts. He in turn will come back laden with probably 100 trinkets or more, gifts of Boy Scouts from all over the world.

Charles, who at the age of 15 years is an Eagle Scout, and who holds 21 merit badges, has been active in Scout work for two years. His only boat ride to date has been on a Delaware river steamer. He is eagerly looking forward to the trip across the Atlantic on the S. S. "General Muir" which will carry hundreds of Boy Scouts from all over the United States.

The local lad will leave here on July 18th for Hart Reservation for three days training and instruction. On the 20th of July the Scouts will be transferred to Camp Kilmer, N. J., to continue the training period. On the 29th, at Camp Kilmer, their parents may visit them. At two p. m. on Thursday, July 24th, the boatload of Scouts will leave from Pier 11, Staten Island, N. Y.

Charles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Holderried, and his brother, Conrad M. Holderried, of Sycamore avenue, are hopeful they may be able to make the trip to Staten Island to bid Charles "bon voyage." Conrad, who is 16 years of age, has enjoyed trips to Camp Oceanikon, the Bucks County Boy Scout camp, as much as Charles has. Although Charles holds 21 merit badges covering various phases of Scouting activity, his main interest is in wood carving.

HARNESSING SOLAR ENERGY

Dr. W. Albert Noyes, Jr.,
president of the American Chemical Society and head of the department of chemistry at the University of Rochester, told a symposium on radiation chemistry and photochemistry at Notre Dame University that energy from the rays of the sun in an area of 100 to 150 square miles in the course of a year, if they could be harnessed, conceivably could provide a year's supply of power for the entire world.

That amount of solar energy,
he said, is equal to all of the fuel burned in a year in the entire world. If scientists could find an effective means of harnessing this energy and storing it for use, he said, it would be possible to do away with all other fuels.

Now the benefits of such a discovery would be plainly apparent in America, where one fuel crisis follows another. But harnessing the sun's power would be even more helpful to nations like Italy,
which has no coal or oil supplies of its own. In fact, scientists in that country have begun experimenting with sun rays with the object of eventually using this energy for power.

Dr. Noyes said that although research in this field was being conducted, the surface has only been scratched.

Should the day arrive when the sun's power is harnessed to produce energy, the industrial picture of the world may change rapidly.
Nations which now have no coal or waterpower resources but large populations available for work in industry may, with the aid of the sun's energy, become thriving industrial countries. But, it may be that atomic energy will be made practicable for peacetime uses long before man succeeds in harnessing the power of the sun.

AIR SAFETY BARGAIN

President Truman's Emergency Air Safety Board has tried out Howard Hughes' transport plane version of a wartime radar warning system.

The board members, studying methods of preventing future air crashes, found that the Hughes device, weighing 15 pounds and costing $130, caused a buzzer to sound and lights to flash on in front of the pilot and co-pilot of a plane when it came within 2,000 feet of a mountainside or other obstruction. The warning gives the pilot time to climb out of danger.

The board members said they would reserve their opinions for their report to the President, but Chairman James M. Landis said the Hughes device "performed as claimed."

The device may not be the perfect answer to air safety problems, but $130 is little enough to pay for the amount of protection it quite evidently can provide.

Perhaps those restaurant workers who formerly put up sugar to resemble headache powders have been put to work putting up headache powders for taxpayers who expected a tax reduction this year.

Nullification

Another form of nullification, which has operated for a century and a half although it is still debatable whether it was actually intended by the Constitution, is the over-riding by the Supreme Court of Congressional enactments on the grounds of unconstitutionality.

This was a doctrine applied by Chief Justice John Marshall.
His argument was that, since there was no provision for over-ruling a judicial decision, and since the Constitution was the supreme law of the land, no conclusion could be reached except that the Supreme Court was the final authority on whether new laws conformed to or violated the Constitution.

This is one of the great differences between the U. S. and the British forms of government. In England, Parliament itself is the judge of the Constitutionality of its acts; there the Constitution means what Parliament says it means. In this country the Constitution means what the Supreme Court decides that it means.

Many grave situations have arisen from judicial nullification.
Still another form of nullification is by the people themselves. The most outstanding example is that of prohibition.

This program broke down simply because the people—or a large share of them—refused to support it. They patronized bootleggers, encouraged violation of the law, condoned violence, corruption and other abuses which soon brought prohibition into disrepute.

All of this is timely food for thought, because one of the major developments of the Truman Administration is his effort to seize powers of nullification as a means of building up his own authority as Chief Executive.

The President's use of nullification has been frequent; it began early in his term of office and, while it has risen out of his veto power, it has also gone much further.

His first step in this direction was his veto of the farm draft bill. This was a matter, as he well knew, dear to the heart of Congress. From the legislative point of view, there was a very simple issue involved—the giving to farm boys the same types of exemption already granted industrial workers. This the President nullified by a veto which, though made at the very height of his popularity, nevertheless cost him heavily in prestige. When it came to a test in the House of Representatives, a majority (though less than two-thirds) opposed him.

Other major matters in which nullification was attempted by Truman veto were price control, tax-reductions and new labor laws.

There are many matters, however, in which laws which actually went into effect were largely nullified by the President.

The second OPA law a year ago, for example, never had a chance.

Long before it was put into effect, the President's extravagant and biased statements had stirred up so much bad feeling that enforcement was impossible. The President himself had to wipe out price controls as a desperate campaign maneuver before the November election.

Likewise, there has been such a tangle of emotion raised over the current Labor Law that it is going to be out of the question for it to receive a really fair try-out during the present administration. The President's statements in this case also—his emphasis on the alleged "unfairness" and "unworkability"
of the Act—assure a long period of turmoil.

In the case of the Portal-to-Portal Pay Bill the President skillfully muddled the waters by writing a legalistic opinion of the act. No one can possibly say, until the courts pass on the matter, whether the law means what Congress thought it meant, or what the President says it means, or something else. It has been largely nullified by Presidential action.

"Dear Ruth," A Gay Comedy, To Be at Bucks Playhouse

NEW HOPE, July 9—"Dear Ruth," acclaimed by critics and public as one of the funniest plays ever seen on Broadway, will be presented at the Bucks County Playhouse, here, the week beginning July 14th, with a cast of skilled comedians, several of whom are New Hope favorites.

The title of the play refers to the greeting on a series of letters written by a romantic GI to a glamorous young girl, who not only never receives them, but is actually engaged to another boy in her home town. It all started because an imaginative youngster forged her sister's name on a love letter to the soldier, and with it sent an alluring photograph.

William A. Lee, who was the judge in "The Trial of Mary Dugan" is the father of the teen-agers, once more playing a judge.

The title role will be acted by lovely ingenue Ann Jackson, who recently finished an engagement with the American Repertory Company. The youngest whose imaginative sets off the fireworks is Joyce Van Patten, who made a name for herself as the American child in "Tomorrow The World."

Gracious Lord, who art more ready to forgive than we are to confess our sins, we bring unto Thee lives stained with the sin of the world. We have done those things which we ought not to have done, and have left undone those things which we ought to have done. We have been too hard on others and too easy on ourselves. We have thought of ourselves more highly than we ought to think. In Thy grace forgive our failures and strengthen us that we may live holier lives through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

"Europe is bleeding to death," Foreign Secretary Bevin declared, and in the emergency "any prejudices, either religious or ideological" must be laid aside. He left the door open for Russia to join the Paris talks. Britain, facing a $1,800,000,000 trade deficit this year, looks to the Marshall plan or something like it to save Europe.

FIFTH WARD NINE BLANKS "BADIES" BY SCORE OF 6 TO 0

Sagolla Strikes Out 15 Batters As Team Wins 15th Game

ALLOWS ONLY 4 HITS

De Luca Leads His Team-mates At the Plate with Two Hits

"Joe" Sagolla struck out fifteen batters last evening as the Fifth Ward Sporting Club annexed its twelfth win of the Bristol Suburban League campaign, defeating the Badenhausen nine, 6-0, on the Third Ward field.

In handing the boiler-makers their nine goose-eggs, Sagolla limited them to four hits, and only gave up one pass. In three innings, Sagolla whiffed eight of the nine batters to face him. In the last two games, the Fifth Ward hurler has hung up a record of 21 strikeouts.

Fifth Ward had 11 hits in the tilt and was led at the plate by "Pete" DeLuca who had two out of three. De Luca also came through with the fielding game of the contest when he snared Hansen's fly in the seventh, robbing the batter of an extra base hit.

The Warders made victory easier by scoring three runs in the sixth on hits by Pappaterra and Pica and a triple from the bat of John Cordisco.

PERKASIE LEGION PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

Still clinging to hopes of winning the Bucks County Junior Legion championship, the Bristol Legion will meet the Perkasio Junior Legion this evening on Leedom's field. Game will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

Manager Vito Della's boys have lost three games while every other team in the circuit has been beaten at least twice so if the Bristol boys win tonight and also beat Langhorne on Saturday, they will be back in the running for the crown.

It is most likely that either Lenny Jones or Bob Young will hurl for the locals with Bill MacSherry behind the plate.

ST. ANN'S DEFEATS CHEMICAL MIXERS IN EASY FASHION

Victors Win Eighth Straight Game of New Winning Streak

FINAL SCORE IS 8 TO 4

Losers Outthit Rivals But Support of Team Was Poor

The newest winning streak of the St. Ann's A. A. team reached eight straight last evening as the "Saints" won over the Rohm and Haas team, 8-4, on the Maple Beach field before a large crowd.

By defeating the chemical workers, the Wood Streets increased their lead in the first division of the Bristol Suburban League to five and one-half games.

The losers outthit the St. Ann's team, 9-6, and "Johnny" Slaven pitched fine ball but received erratic support, his mates erroring seven times. The Saints took advantage of the mis-plays to score their runs.

"Nate" Chichiletti pitched the first seven innings for St. Ann's and was credited with the victory. "Kenny" Clark hurled the eighth and ninth innings.

"Ed" Hunter had three out of four to lead the batters of the game.

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

FUR WORKERS COME TO LIFE AND WIN OVER LEGION

Chalk Up 12 Runs in 7th Inning for a 16 to 7 Triumph

GROUND IS GAINED

Make A Valiant Effort To Vacate Cellar of The League

The Fur Workers suddenly came to life in the seventh inning of their game with the Langhorne Legion on Leedom's field last evening and scored twelve runs to chalk up a 16-7 triumph. The Fur Workers gained a little ground in their effort to vacate the cellar.

"Jack" Kennedy who hurled for Schutte-Koerting in the league last season was the winning hurler. Kennedy was tapped for nine hits by the Langhorne boys but his support failed to hold up and five runs in the seventh had given the Legionnaires a tentative 7-4 lead before the fur processors made their outburst.

The losing hurler was Bob Mitchell who was batted from the peak during the rally. He was relieved by "Walt" Carter.

"Stan" Zuzek had a triple and a pair of singles to lead the Fur Workers with Dolan having three singles. For Langhorne, "Freddie" Bringle had three singles in five times up.
